How to read a transcript issued by this school

Reporting period

Marks are reported by semester. The three-year programme has six semesters: Grade 10 covers semesters 1 and 2, Grade 11 covers semesters 3 and 4, Grade 12 covers semesters 5 and 6.

Marking scale

All subjects are marked 0–100. Minimum passing mark (KKM): 75.

Mark	Meaning at this school	Approximate US letter
93–100	Outstanding	A
88–92	Above expectation	B
80–87	Meets expectation	C
75–79	Below expectation	D
below 75	Fail, remediation required	F

Marks are compressed at the top. The working range of marks reported at this school is approximately 85 to 98. The lower half of the nominal scale is not in routine use. Reading these marks as US percentages will understate our students.

No weighting, no advanced tiers

The Indonesian vocational curriculum is fixed by national regulation (Kurikulum Merdeka). There are no honours, Advanced Placement, International Baccalaureate or Cambridge courses available anywhere in this system, so no weighting is applied and no distinction between course difficulty levels appears on the transcript. All students in a programme take the same subjects in the same sequence.

Subject groups

Group A covers general subjects required of all students nationally. Group B covers vocational subjects. In Grade 10 the vocational subject is Foundations of Software and Game Development; from Grade 11 it becomes the specialisation subject, Software and Game Development.

Two requirements with no US equivalent

PKL (Praktik Kerja Lapangan) is a compulsory industrial placement of up to six months in Grade 12, served at a partner company and assessed by both the employer and the school. Students are assigned production work.

UKK (Uji Kompetensi Keahlian) is a terminal practical examination assessed against Indonesian national occupational standards, in part by external industry assessors from outside the school.

Class rank

This school computes academic ranking within each programme of study, not across the graduating class as a whole. The annual designation Juara Umum is awarded within a programme. A rank across the whole graduating class is therefore not routinely produced, and is reported to colleges as None unless computed on request. Rank is unweighted.

Attendance and conduct

Recorded separately and not reported on the transcript.
